

Name of respondent:

George Bollenbacher

Date:

19 June 2018

Comment:

I have a question about the usage of the IMA for new products. If a product or instrument type is so new that there are no recorded prices yet to be used in the PLA Test, can a bank still use the IMA to calculate capital requirements, or must it use the SA until there are sufficient real prices? Thank you for your assistance.