

Is it possible for financial institutions to use RTO (Recovery Time Objectives) of critical business functions to define risk appetite and risk tolerance ?

Examples are highly recommended.