Chile	Principles	PSs	4	The Central Bank of Chile, on December 28th, released a new final regulation that explicitly requires to “Designated Payment Systems” the full observance of PFMI. That rule is in force from January 2018. The Designated Payment Systems at this moment are the RTGS System provided by the Central Bank, LBTR System, and a net payment system, Combanc, provided by the banking sector. The regulation corresponds to Chapter H of the Compendium of Financial Rules of the Chilean Central Bank and it is available on its website. This new regulation was established according to a previous joint policy statement of January 9th 2017, signed by the Ministry of Finance, the Central Bank, the Superintendence of Banks and Financial Institutions, the Superintendence of Securities and Insurance Companies (currently the Financial Markets Commission), declaring their strong commitment to apply the PFMI in their oversight, regulation and supervision frameworks.	Central Bank Board Agreement, December 28, 2017 http://www.bcentral.cl/documents/20143/31983/2119E-01-171228.pdf/7339deb9-1bd9-8fb9-9c5f-524de97b63cb Press Release, December 29, 2017 http://www.bcentral.cl/documents/20143/31863/npr29122017.pdf/954b41ae-482a-d5d5-9d91-de7d186646ad Chapter H: “Payment Systems” of the Compendium of Financial Rules: http://www.bcentral.cl/documents/20143/352788/CapIIIH.pdf/464fc555-ea58-3690-98e9-0faec86bf35b Joint statement of Authorities on PFMI adoption, January 2017. https://www.svs.cl/portal/prensa/604/articles-23068_doc_pdf.pdf

		CSDs and SSSs	4	According to the ROSC done within 2016: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Chile has fairly developed payment, clearing, and settlement infrastructures. • No serious issues of concern were identified with regard to the operation of CCLV (SSS) as a securities settlement system. • DCV (CSD) ensures the safekeeping and efficient transfer of securities. • Authorities' powers are clearly defined with no overlap. The ROSC identifies partial compliance of responsibility D in 2016. However, in 2017 authorities issued a Joint Statement on PFMI adoption in the context of the CEF (financial stability council). Moreover, as detailed below the CBCh has explicitly included references to the PFMI in the "designated payment systems". • The Ministry of Finance, the Central Bank, the Superintendence of Banks and Financial Institutions, the Superintendence of Securities and Insurance Companies, published a joint policy statement on 9 January 2017 in order to encourage the observance of the Principles for Financial Market Infrastructures, and declare their strong commitment to apply the PFMI in their oversight, regulation and supervision frameworks. 	ROSC 2016 http://www.hacienda.cl/mercado-de-capitales/documentos-y-presentaciones/informe-rosc.html Joint statement of Authorities on PFMI adoption: [see above for link]

		CCPs	4	According to ROSC done within 2016: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Chile has fairly developed payment, clearing, and settlement infrastructures. • CCLV as a central counterparty and COMDER incorporate international standards in their risk management practices. • The only pending issues relate to treatment of segregation and portability of collateral in the CCP law (as referred to client collateral segregation). In Chile collaterals at CCPs are segregated by compensated orders and legally protected from default or bankruptcy of clients, participants or CCP. Collaterals at CCP are treated as a legal entity whose sole purpose is to comply with the respective compensated orders for which they were established. • Authorities' powers are clearly defined with no overlap. 		TRs	2	The Central Bank of Chile, on the second half of 2018, released for public comments a new regulation to implement an “Integrated Information System on Derivatives Transactions”, which strictly and explicitly following PFMI applied to TRs. Its final version will be published no later than the first half of 2019. The regulation corresponds to the Chapter III.D.3 and its respective Operating Rule (Chapter III.D.3.1) of the Compendium of Financial Rules of the Chilean Central Bank and mainly establishes the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Recognizes the derivatives transactions database operated by the Central Bank of Chile as a Trade Repository and explicitly requires the full observance of PFMI. • Extends the scope of collected data, requesting all banking derivatives even if they don't correspond to foreign exchange operations. The banking derivatives transactions represents more than 80% of the derivatives market in Chile. • For non-banking entities the TR includes only foreign exchange derivatives at this stage. In a second stage, Central Bank is looking for alternatives to extend the TR to all kind of derivatives. • The current scope of the TR, including all kind of banking derivatives and foreign exchange derivatives of non-banking entities, is more than 90% of the derivatives market in Chile. • The quality, quantity and frequency will be increased under common criteria for all the information received. • Grants full access to the Superintendence of Banks and Financial Institutions to this database, which shall merge with the Financial Market Commission during 2019. • Grants public access to the data at aggregate level through a Web Portal that will be available in order to achieve an appropriate dissemination of the information to financial institutions and the general public. • Establishes an explicit calendar for the central bank and its participants in order to implement the management and operation of this System in a properly manner. The regulation is available on the Central Bank website. According to ROSC done within 2016: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Central Bank operates a database (Base de Datos de Derivados Cambiarios, BDDC) where foreign exchange derivatives transactions are reported by banks, other financial institutions and certain non-financial entities, and publishes aggregate-level data. Comments:

- As for PSs, BCCH has specific regulations that assure fulfilment with the principles 1,2,3,4,5,7,8,9,12, 15, 16, 17 18, 19 21, 22 and 23.
- The Central Bank of Chile and the Ministry of Finance required the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund to conduct a Review of Standards and Codes (ROSC) to the Chilean market infrastructures (PS, CCP, CSD, SSS) in order to evaluate the compliance with PFMI. The assessment was made in August and September 2015 and the final reports were published in December 2016. The reports concluded that Chile has fairly developed payment, clearing, and settlement infrastructures, Also the reports states that authorities' powers are clearly defined with no overlap. The reports were published in the websites of Ministry of Finance and the Central Bank of Chile <http://www.hacienda.cl/mercado-de-capitales/documentos-y-presentaciones/informe-rosc.html>
- As for TRs, the Central Bank operates a database (Base de Datos de Derivados Cambiarios, BDDC) where foreign exchange derivatives transactions are reported by banks, other financial institutions and certain non-financial entities, and publishes aggregate-level data. However, this infrastructure does not qualify as a TR. A plan of action to remove the existing barriers – legal and technological – to developing a TR function will enable Chilean authorities to meet international expectations and best practices in the global derivatives markets. For that reason,the Central Bank develop in the second half of 2018 a new regulation in order to recognize their database as a TR which explicitly requires a full observance of PFMIs.
