RE: ICE Trade Vault’s Comments on the Second Consultative Report on Harmonisation of the Unique Product Identifier

Dear Ms. Picillo, Mr. Troussard and Mr. Sharma:

On behalf of Intercontinental Exchange, Inc. ("ICE"), ICE Trade Vault Europe Limited and ICE Trade Vault, LLC (collectively, "ICE Trade Vault") appreciate the opportunity to comment on the above-referenced Consultative Report published in August 2016 by the Committee on Payments and Market Infrastructures ("CPMI") and the International Organization of Securities Commissions ("IOSCO"). ICE Trade Vault respectfully submits this comment letter, which was prepared in consultation with ICE. As provided in ICE Trade Vault’s previous comment letters, and as background, ICE was established in 2000 as an over-the-counter ("OTC") marketplace with the goal of providing transparency and impartiality to the precedent opaque, fragmented energy market. As ICE grew its business, it established ICE Trade Vault as the derivatives transaction data repository in the United States, Canada and in Europe to serve the needs of the post-trade data repository under the various derivatives regulatory reforms being implemented around the globe.

Consistent with its past comment letters submitted to the IOSCO and the CPMI regarding the harmonization of the Unique Product Identifier ("UPI") and the Unique Transaction Identifier ("UTI"), ICE Trade Vault supports the global efforts in implementing a global standard in the data definition, format, and usage that would enhance the transparency and the ability for the derivatives data to be aggregated accurately. While generally in support of these efforts, ICE Trade Vault urges the CPMI and the IOSCO to align any endorsed UPI taxonomy with current and future regulations\(^2\) that would require counterparties to report a UPI so that both over-the-counter and exchange executed cross-jurisdictional derivatives, would use a mutual, standardized UPI taxonomy.

ICE Trade Vault's comments are provided in the Annex A attached to this letter. Please contact the undersigned should you have any questions regarding these comments.

Sincerely,

Tara Collier Manuel

Annex A -- Comments to the Second Consultative Report on Harmonisation of the Unique Product Identifier

The following are ICE Trade Vault's responses to the questions posed in the Consultative Report. The questions are numbered in accordance with the list in the report and reprinted in italics with ICE Trade Vault's responses immediately following.

Question 1: Do you believe that the data elements within each asset class described above are appropriate? Why or why not? If there are additional subcategories that you believe should be included for one or more asset classes, please describe them and discuss why you believe they should be included.

ICE Trade Vault Response: ICE Trade Vault believes that in order to have a standard UPI that references standard distinct values for the taxonomy fields as well as an identifier ("ID"), then a system such as that established and operating by the Global Legal Entity Identifier Foundation ("GLEIF") and the local operating units ("LOUs") would need to be established to capture the additional details and subcategories required to provide meaningful information. Under this structure, a counterparty could contact a LOU for UPIs with the product specifications that they intend to trade and the LOU for UPIs could then create standard data values for the taxonomy fields where they do not yet exist and create a Product ID. These values and IDs would be validated against a central database for uniqueness. The LOU UPIs could charge a fee per product creation on a cost basis and a central aggregator could publish all available UPIs for free public consumption. This is not a new concept for product creation as identifiers such as ISINs require preregistration.

Using information solely on the underlier and the instrument (or even the asset class) as suggested will not provide enough detail for trade repositories ("TRs") and regulators to aggregate data. Specifically, using solely a combination of instrument and underlying data elements will prohibit TRs and regulators from aggregating data with different units or currencies on the same underlier. This type of data must be aggregated independently or converted to a single unit/currency and subsequently aggregated as these are how the products are categorised and traded.

Accordingly, ICE Trade Vault suggests a three-level breakdown of products in order to provide regulators and counterparties with a sufficiently granular UPI. In the first level, the classification should include a high level description of the product including asset class. In the second level, the product information should be delineated. And finally, in the third level, more granular attributed needed for trade data aggregation should be included. Please refer to Annex B for a more detailed explanation of ICE Trade Vault’s three-level classification system.

ICE Trade Vault agrees with the concepts described in the Descriptions of suggested UPI reference data, but ICE Trade Vault does not agree with some of the proposed fields included. For example, i. Option style and type- should not be in the UPI reference data level, as these should only be included in the position level aggregation verses being contained in the UPI ID.

ii. Instrument Class- should include swaptions and contract for differences as systems will need to know this information so they can correctly process events such as option exercises.
iii. Return, pricing method or payout trigger - the underlying data values would need to be clearly defined as they do not all cover standard industry terms or a trade may be classified under multiple as they are very generic without rules on how to implement.

iv. Underlying asset/contract type - the values suggested for commodities do not seem to be at a standard level. For example, energy is grouped within one category when power, gas and oil each have unique trading types, but metals has been differentiated into precious and non-precious. A complete and consistent set of values would need to be defined to allow for an accurate aggregation of data by regulators and TR's.

v. Underlying asset/contract subtype - these values may be duplicated in the underlier ID value, but ICE Trade Vault does not see an issue with using the values as long as it is expanded to identify all commodity types and at a consistent level. For example, Baltic Exchange is called out for freight types where other commodities do not reference their underlying exchange. Again, a complete and consistent set of values would need to be defined to allow for accurate aggregation of data.

vi. Underlier ID and Source - as index providers do not always publish a standard list of index names and consistently reference those names, ICE Trade Vault suggests that a standard format be generated for these names (e.g., ISDA commodities reference price format COMMODITY-INdex NAME-PUBLISHER) and that a central source create and publish the applicable values for consistency. Similarly, physical products will require the creation of a standard delivery location name for all points as well.

vii. For aggregation purposes, the currency or the underlying unit will need to be referenced otherwise all data will have to be transformed into a single currency or unit which is not feasible and not reflective of what is actually traded. This could be part of the UPI or used by TRs as a separate aggregation point.

ICE Trade Vault recommends that the set up for Exchange and Cleared products be reviewed for standard levels of granularity on product set up.

Question 2: Do you believe generally that the value "Other" is required in certain data elements? If so, which ones and why?

ICE Trade Vault Response: ICE Trade Vault believes that exotic or bespoke products are required in order to report all necessary transactions. A value of "Other" or a similar term can be used to represent these exotic or bespoke products yet regulators should clearly define when and how exotic or bespoke products can and should be used. For example, a package trade that can be broken down by each individual leg should be reported with a standard UPI for each leg rather than using an exotic product to capture the entire trade. Further clarification is also required in instances where a trade was previously reported under exotic or bespoke and can now be upgraded to a standard product. ICE Trade Vault seeks clarification on whether there is an obligation on the reporting party to upgrade these trades and does that obligation differ for open verses closed trades. ICE Trade Vault believes that once a trade is reported on a product that the trade does not need to be upgraded from exotic to standard at a later date as long as it was correctly reported at the time of execution.
A value for “Not Applicable” may also need to be created based on the fields selected for the product taxonomy. For example, a physical OTC trade on a delivery location and not an index will not have an index source value.

Question 3: For an OTC derivatives product based on a custom basket of securities or assets, please provide your view of the optimal means of representing that OTC derivative product. Do you believe that it is practical to include all of the underlying securities or assets and their risk weights in the UPI reference data? If not, how do you believe that the elements of the custom basket and their risk weights should be reported to a TR?

ICE Trade Vault Response: ICE Trade Vault believes that there should be products created where the underlier references a generic “basket.” The basket terms, including the underlying indexes and their weights, should be represented on the trade itself. Otherwise, there could be an infinite amount of basket products created.

Question 4: How should underlying assets and reference entities be represented in the UPI reference data library? Would LEIs be suitable, at least for corporate reference entities? Why or why not? Are there suitable identifiers for indices? If not, is it feasible to use an existing identifier such as an ISIN code for them?

ICE Trade Vault Response: Where available, LEIs and ISINs would be used for underlying information. However, a number of OTC products do not have LEIs or ISINs that can be used as reference data and as such these values will need to be created in a standard public format.

Question 5: Do you envisage any obstacles to including the source of the identifier for the underlier as part of the reference data element for the underlier? Please explain and justify.

ICE Trade Vault Response: ICE Trade Vault suggests adding a “Source” field to indicate if the underlier is a “Name”, “LEI”, or “ISIN”. For Names, the underlying publisher should be referenced as a standard value. It should be noted that the publisher may change over time as indices are bought and sold and a standard process should be defined as to how and when these would be handled or changed. This is where UPI providers would offer a place to publish and standardize changes in a consistent and public manner.

Question 6: Could there be issues related to including proprietary benchmarks and indices in publicly available reference data or publicly disseminated UPIs? Please elaborate on any issues such as licensing that may exist.

ICE Trade Vault Response: ICE Trade Vault does not believe there are any issues including the index name, but suggests other proprietary identifiers, such as RED Codes, should not be endorsed.

Question 7: What are the arguments for and against the use of a dummy UPI code or an intelligent UPI code, or having both types of code coexisting?

ICE Trade Vault Response: Either a dummy code or intelligent code should be selected and not a mixture of both. For reporting in accordance with Part 45 and Part 43 of the CFTC regulations, the public dissemination UPIs will need a secondary ID in order to mask necessary data for commodity products not associated to an enumerated futures contract as defined in Part 43.
Question 8: Do you agree that a well-articulated UPI reference data library could support interoperability between dummy UPI codes and intelligent UPI codes? Why or why not? What steps could be taken with the UPI reference data to facilitate supporting both types of UPI code?

ICE Trade Vault Response: Please see ICE Trade Vault’s response to Question 7.

Question 9: What are the minimum and maximum lengths (in terms of number of characters) that you believe the industry could accommodate for a UPI code system? How does this vary between dummy and intelligent codes? What do you believe is the optimal number of characters, any why?

ICE Trade Vault Response: No comment.

Question 10: For intelligent codes, how should the information be encoded? Are there existing models for this? How much adaptation would existing models require in order to meet the needs described in this consultation?

ICE Trade Vault Response: No comment.

Question 11: Do you believe that UPI codes should have an inherent means of validation? For example, should UPI codes include a check digit? Why or why not? Does this vary between dummy and intelligent codes and/or depend on the encoding method used in an intelligent code?

ICE Trade Vault Response: No comment.

Question 12: Another means of having a simple, partial validation for a UPI code would be for all UPI codes to be of uniform length: thus, any code that was not the required length could be recognized as prima facie invalid. Do you believe that all UPI code should be of uniform length? Why or why not? Or are optimal UPI codes of one asset class likely to be longer or shorter than optimal UPI codes for other asset classes? If so, do you believe that extra dummy characters should be inserted into the shorter codes to make them of the uniform length? Why or why not?

ICE Trade Vault Response: TRs would require the list of UPI codes and underlying reference information in order to validate trades upon submission.

Question 13: For an intelligent UPI code, how should the underlying asset(s) or reference entity (entities) be represented within the UPI code? Would it be preferable for the part of the UPI code that represents the underlying asset(s) or reference entity (entities) to be dummy while the rest of the code is intelligent? Why or why not?

ICE Trade Vault Response: No comment.

Question 14: Should the UPI code system avoid using Roman letters? Why or why not? Are there particular jurisdiction whose computer systems cannot accommodate Roman letters?

ICE Trade Vault Response: No comment.

Question 15: Would it be preferable for the UPI code to use only Roman letters, only Indo-Arabic numerals, or a combination of the two? Why? If Roman letters are included in the UPI code system, should they avoid being case-sensitive? If the UPI code system uses both Roman letters and Indo-Arabic numerals, should the system not disallow particular characters that could be mistaken for each other (the lower-case letter "I" and the number "1", the digit "0" and the upper-case letter "O" etc).
ICE Trade Vault Response: ICE Trade Vault believes that only ASCII characters that are required to be in uppercase along with numbers 2-9 should be allowed.
Annex B – Taxonomy Hierarchy

ICE Trade Vault recommends that the Harmonisation Group endorse the following classification and product taxonomy. Please find the applicable values per asset class attached.

Hierarchy:

- Level 1: Applicable for a high level classification.
- Level 2: Applicable to define a product, allows SDRs and TRs to aggregate data and top level positions.
- Level 3: Data used to consistently aggregate totals in a continent manner, e.g., units and currencies, so that a notional in EUR is not aggregated with a notional in USD.
- Level 4: Data used to create drilled down positions at the level of a mark or settlement price but should never be included in the product taxonomy or classification ID generated level, if they were to be used an exurbanite number of products would need to be generated daily.

For consistency, all values should be in upper case.

ONLY level 1, 2, 3 data will be used to create a product ID. Level 4 data will be used to aggregate data consistently across TRs/SDRs. Each field and data value should be clearly defined and consistently used. Note that not all fields will be applicable to all asset classes or all products within an asset class, as such NA should be used to indicate when a field is not applicable to the product. Validations should be set up for when NA may be used.

LEVEL 1

Asset Class:

- Definition: Indicates whether the asset, index or another derivatives contract underlying a derivatives contract is, or references, an equity, rate, credit, commodity or foreign exchange asset.
- Allowable Values: COMMODITIES, EQUITY, FOREIGN EXCHANGE, INTEREST RATES, CREDIT
- N/A Value Allowed: No
- “OTHER” Allowed: No

Delivery Type:

- Definition: Indicates whether a derivatives contract will deliver a physical asset or a cash equivalent at settlement.
- Allowable Values: PHYSICAL, FINANCIAL
- N/A Value Allowed: No
Instrument Type:

- Definition: Indicates whether an instrument is a swap, option, swaption, contract for difference, or forward.
- Allowable Values: SWAP, OPTION, SWAPTION, CFD, FORWARD
- N/A Value Allowed: No
- “OTHER” Allowed: No

- N/A Value Allowed: Yes
- “OTHER” Allowed: No

Calculated value needed for commodities aggregation:

Strip

- Definition: The applicable single value in a sequence of contract months or days or hours that can be executed as a single transaction broken down into its components. Note that a trade will be reported as traded, for example in a quarter or calendar. Then the dates, product, quantity, quantity frequency, and total quantity information will be used to create a strip. For example Brent January 2016 from a Brent 2016 calendar swap.
Commodity Product Taxonomy

Level 3:

- Strip: The applicable single value in a sequence of contract months or days or hours that can be executed as a single transaction broken down into its components.
  - Examples: June 2016, May 2017, August 1, 2016
  - Requirements: For non-bespoke contracts the smallest tradable component.
