The week ahead: week 39

26–30 September 2022

Monday 26 September

• Working paper by Giulio Cornelli, Jon Frost and Leonardo Gambacorta: “The impact of fintech lending on credit access for US small businesses”
  Contact: Andreas Adriano, andreas.adriano@bis.org

Tuesday 27 September

  Contact: Krista Hughes, krista.hughes@bis.org

• BIS Paper “Historical monetary and financial statistics for policymakers: towards a unified framework”, edited by Claudio Borio, Øyvind Eitrheim, Marc Flandreau, Clemens Jobst, Jan F. Qvigstad and Ryland Thomas
  Contact: Martin Hood, martin.hood@bis.org

Wednesday 28 September

• BIS Bulletin “Global supply chain disruptions” by Deniz Igan, Phurichai Rungcharoenkitkul and Koji Takahashi
  Contact: Louise Egan, louise.egan@bis.org

• Working paper “Emerging market bond flows and exchange rate returns” by Peter Hördahl and Giorgio Valente
  Contact: Martin Hood, martin.hood@bis.org

• Tao Zhang speaks about inflation and financial stability risks at the Standard & Poors APAC Financial Institutions conference. By invitation only.
  Contact: Dezhi Ma, dezhi.ma@bis.org

• Fernando Restoy speaks at Korea Capital Market Institute's 25th anniversary conference, on big tech regulation in finance, 09:45 KST
  Contact: Emma Claggett, emma.claggett@bis.org
• Hyun Song Shin speaks on digital currencies at the Frankfurt Forum on US-European GeoEconomics, hosted by the Atlantic Council, Atlantik-Brücke with the participation of the Bruegel Institute, 14:00 CEST. Details on the website. Contact: louise.egan@bis.org

Thursday 29 September

• The BCBS-CPMI-IOSCO publish report on “Review of margining practices” Contact: Alan Soughley, alan.soughley@bis.org

• The Basel Committee publishes Regulatory Consistency Assessment Programme (RCAP) for Japan’s Net Stable Funding Ratio (NSFR) and large exposures framework (LEX), and revised RCAP Handbook Contact: Alan Soughley, alan.soughley@bis.org

• Neil Esho speaks at the European Banking Summit. More information on the website. Contact: Alan Soughley, alan.soughley@bis.org

• Claudio Borio delivers a pre-recorded speech about challenges for central banks, past, present and future at the annual joint conference of the Polish and Hungarian central banks, “Competitiveness and sustainable economic growth in the CEE Region”, 10:25 CEST. The conference will be livestreamed here. Contact: Louise Egan, louise.egan@bis.org

• Luiz Pereira da Silva speaks on a panel “Maintaining central bank independence in the face of fiscal dominance risks, expanding central bank mandates, and other challenges” at the joint Lietuvos bankas-BIS conference on the “Future of Central Banking”, 15:00 CEST. Details on website. Contact: Louise Egan, louise.egan@bis.org

Friday 30 September

• The Basel Committee publishes Basel III monitoring report as of end-2021. Contact: Alan Soughley, alan.soughley@bis.org

• FSI Occasional Paper “Big tech regulation: in search of a new framework” Contact: Emma Claggett, emma.claggett@bis.org

• Agustín Carstens participates in a panel discussion at a New York Federal Reserve conference on Financial Stability Considerations for Monetary Policy, 11:15 ET, more details on the website. Contact: Krista Hughes, krista.hughes@bis.org