Progress report on Basel III implementation

Introduction

At its September 2011 meeting, the Basel Committee agreed to commence a process to review members' implementation of Basel III. Full, timely and consistent implementation of Basel III will be fundamental to raising the resilience of the global banking system, in maintaining market confidence in regulatory ratios, and in providing a level playing field. The review process is intended to provide additional incentives for member jurisdictions to fully implement the standards within the agreed timelines.

This report, as part of the process, provides an update on the regulatory adoption of Basel III by each Committee member. In addition, the Committee plans to review the consistency of members' regulations with the internationally agreed standards. It also will review the consistency of the measurement of risk-weighted assets across banks and jurisdictions, covering both the banking book and the trading book. The outcome of these reviews will also be included in the updated version of this progress report when they become available.

Scope

This report focuses on the domestic rule-making processes to ensure that Basel III is transformed into law or regulation according to the agreed international timelines. At this stage, it does not include the review of the content of the domestic rules.

Basel III builds upon and enhances the regulatory framework adopted by Basel II and Basel 2.5, which now form integral parts of the Basel III framework. This report therefore reviews members' regulatory adoption of Basel II, Basel 2.5 and Basel III.

Basel II, which improved the measurement of credit risk and included capture of operational risk, was released in 2004 and was due to be implemented from year-end 2006.<sup>1</sup> The implementation of Basel II was re-affirmed by the G20 Leaders, who committed to complete, where necessary, the adoption of Basel II by 2011.<sup>2</sup>

Basel 2.5, agreed in July 2009, enhanced the measurements of risks related to securitisation and trading book exposures.<sup>3</sup> Basel 2.5 is to be implemented no later than 31 December 2011.<sup>4</sup>

In December 2010, the Committee released Basel III, which has set higher levels of capital requirements and introduced a new global liquidity framework.<sup>5</sup> The members agreed to implement Basel III from 1 January 2013, according to the transitional and phase-in arrangements. The importance of full and timely implementation of Basel III has also been underscored by the G20 Leaders.<sup>6</sup>

At this stage, this progress report focuses on the adoption of the capital requirements measured against risk-weighted assets. The liquidity ratios and the leverage ratio, which have been introduced by Basel III, will be included in the review after the Committee concludes its study on any revisions or final adjustments.

Methodology

In this report, the following classification is used to classify the status of adoption of regulatory rules:

1. Draft regulation not published: this status corresponds to cases where no draft law, regulation, or other official document has been made public to detail the planned content of the domestic regulatory rules. This status includes cases where a jurisdiction has communicated high-level information about its implementation plans but not detailed rules.
2. Draft regulation published: this status corresponds to cases where a draft law, regulation or other official document is already publicly available, for example for public consultation or legislative deliberations. The content of the document has to be specific enough to be implemented when adopted.
3. Final rule published: this status corresponds to cases where the domestic legal or regulatory framework has been finalised and approved but is still not applicable to banks.
4. Final rule in force: This status corresponds to cases where the domestic legal and regulatory framework is already applied to banks.

In order to support and supplement the status reported, summary information about the next steps and the implementation plans being considered by members are also provided for each jurisdiction.<sup>7</sup>

For Basel II, a special colour code has been used in addition to the status above, to identify the jurisdictions which, independent of the adoption status reported, have in practice not effectively completed the implementation of the rules. The use of such a colour code will be expanded to Basel 2.5 in 2012 and to Basel III in 2013.

<sup>6</sup> "We endorsed the landmark agreement reached by the BCBS on the new bank capital and liquidity framework (...) We are committed to adopt and implement fully these standards within the agreed timeframe that is consistent with economic recovery and financial stability. The new framework will be translated into our national laws and regulations, and will be implemented starting on January 1, 2013 and fully phased in by January 1, 2019." The G20 Seoul Summit, Leaders' Declaration, 11-12 November 2010.

<sup>7</sup> The attached tables are also available on the BCBS website. The web version of the tables also includes links to relevant domestic regulations.

The attached tables, based on reports made by members, indicate the adoption status of Basel II, Basel 2.5 and Basel III for each Committee member jurisdiction as of end September 2011. The Committee will update it on a regular basis.
